LEADERS OF GANGS IN OPEN DEFIADE

Division of Bootlegging Spoils Rumored as Having Connection With New Crimes Committed

Herrin, Ill., October 26.—(AP)—Two camps of armed men, one boasting an armored truck, 28 men and about 12 machine guns, were disclosed today after William McQuay and Ward Jones had been found shot to death. McQuay's body held 16 machine gun bullets and 28 bullet holes punctured the back of his automobile on the country road where he was shot. Jones was shot four times. His body was found in a creek some distance from where McQuay was found.

The shootings resulted from friction of gangs of Charles Birger and the Shelton brothers who are reported to be heavily armed, ready to fight it out to settle difficulties in the bootlegging business.

Vengeance Promised.

“We are going to get even, and we are going to work fast,” Birger told newspapermen today. Birger said McQuay was shot when he ventured out without company, and close to a roadside operated by the Shelton brothers. Birger tonight planned to remove relatives from his Harrisburg home because he saw men scouting around his place last night. He operates a roadhouse in Williamson county and was once employed by the Shelton brothers gang.

Sheriff George Gallogan at Marion, the county seat, said tonight that he had not heard of the possession of the machine guns by Birger, although he knew of the armored truck. He said that “as far as he knew everything is quiet” and that two of his deputies made a round of the county late today.

Visited Road House.

On their trip, Gallogan said, the deputies visited Birger's roadhouse on the Williams county line, that they found “several” of the gang there, but that no search was made for arms.

“Illinois has no law against carrying weapons if they are not concealed,” he said. “Even if we find them, we could not do anything because a man is allowed to have guns in his home.”

Gallogan said he had never seen Birger's truck, although he had made an investigation, but that he had heard the truck was kept “in protection.”

Vets of Gray Dance Again To Old Tunes

Ford Sends Scores of Old Time Music for Confederate Ball Here.

Sheets of music, from the fitter king's own album, have been received, and the members of the chapter and the veterans are hoping that Mr. and Mrs. Ford will be able to attend.

A well-known orchestra, directed by Major A. DeGarmo, has been engaged to play at the ball, and the aggregation has already begun training for one of the most unusual dance programs arranged in Atlanta since Sherman marched to the beach.

1,141 PRISONERS IN FEDERAL PENS FREED ON PAROLE

Washington, October 26.—(AP)—The government paroled 1,141 prisoners during the fiscal year ending June 30, or 140 more than in the previous year, the department of justice said today. The increase was attributed to the larger number of prisoners.

There were 6,696 prisoners in the three federal penitentiaries at the close of the year, an increase of 233 over the previous year.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 26.—(Special)—Armed with requisition papers, approved by the governor of Indiana and indictments returned by the Marion county grand jury here, Inspector of Detectives Claude Worley with Detectives Johnson, Shultz and Broomfield are en route tonight to Atlanta to take into custody three men and one woman arrested there, alleged to be part of the gang of bandits which held up and robbed the Westside branch of the Union Trust company here, October 15, of $31,000.

The bandits who Worley expects to return here are Paul Vernon, of Louisville, Ky., alias C. J. Mitchell; Gene Price, alias G. E. Scott; Ima King, alias Mary Scott, and B. L. Carter, alias of Indianapolis. They were arrested by the Atlanta police Monday evening on information furnished by Inspector Worley, and had in their possession $11,000 and a number of pistols.

Local police were placed on the trail of the bandits, which finally led to their arrest in Atlanta, by tips they received after arresting Jesse Stephens and Grace Ford, of Indianapolis, a few days after the holdup. Stephens and Ford are accused of driving the bandit car in making its getaway and the swag is alleged to have been divided in Miss Ford's apartment.

The tips received by local police enabled them to trace the remainder of the gang to the Gibson hotel at Cincinnati. But the bandits were like tigers and got away. They bought new trunks, however, and these were traced to Nashville, Tenn., from where they were checked to Chattanooga and then to Atlanta.

Mr. Cox was a schoolmate of the late James B. Duke, tobacco magnate, who started the foundation.

The $15,000,000 building program of Duke university, Durham, N. C., was discussed at a meeting of the building committee of the foundation. The progress of the construction work was reviewed.

HALL-MILLS CASE PROSECUTOR WINS FIGHT WITH JURY

Senator Simpson Challenges Body To Indict Governor, Attorney General and Himself.

EPITHET OF ‘LIAR’ IS BANDIED FREELY

Jury Finally Agrees To Hear Simpson's Evidence Whenever He Cares To Present It.

By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.

Somerville, N. J., October 26.—After a battle with the foreman of Somerville county grand jury which he described as a “wow of a row,” Senator Simpson, special prosecutor in the Hall-Mills murder investigation, emerged from the jury room to-day wearing a grin of victory.

Before the small and energetic prosecutor finished with his antagonist, the other jurymen agreed to hear Senator Simpson's presentation of evidence on accessory after the fact charges any time he cared to present it. Foreman Irving Snyder, who called the grand jury together over Simpson's protest, was completely routed.

Snyder in Rage.

Snyder is a close friend of the late prosecutor, Azariah Beekman, who was involved unpleasantly in Simpson's investigation of the four-year-old murders. When Simpson asked a postponement of the grand jury hearing of evidence against Mrs. Minnie Clark and Felix di Martini, Mrs. Hall's detectives, Snyder flew into a rage. He declared the jury would meet anyway—that it had the right to initiate an inquiry of its own—and summoned that body.

Before he finished today Simpson challenged the jury to indict him to the governor of New Jersey, the attorney general and Justice Charles W. Parker. All of them, Simpson said, had watched the course of the state's inquiry and had approved every step.

“Liar” Freely Bandied.

The epithet of “liar” was bandied freely. Loud and angry voices drifted through the thick masonry walls of the foreman and the prosecutor conducted a high comedy dialogue and grand jurors flung themselves into the fray to prevent the two men tearing into each other physically. Simpson passed 20 minutes in the presence of the crowd at the Anseley, but dubbed him her knight, and the knight of the needy children of Atlanta.

$378,000 BALANCE OF TOTAL NEEDED YET TO BE RAISED

27 Per Cent of Quota Now Pledged, With Six Days Remaining To Secure Balance.

TODAY IS PIVOTAL DAY FOR CAMPAIGN

Voorhees Is Winning Captain of Individual Subscriber Teams at Workers' Luncheon.

With 27 per cent of its total budget reported subscribed at the first two of the six scheduled report luncheons, the 600 volunteer workers in the Atlanta Community Chest's fourth annual appeal will launch today the final drive with an average report of $95,000 at each of the four remaining meetings necessary to reach the budget of $321,000 is to be raised.

The Tuesday report of $83,000 sent the total subscribed to $143,000, leaving $378,000 to be secured during the last six days of the campaign, which is scheduled to close Monday, November 1.

Reports today, the sixth and pivotal day of the 11-day campaign which began October 22, will indicate whether Atlanta is responding readily and liberally or whether the last few days will require strenuous efforts against difficult odds to reach the goal set as necessary for the adequate support of the 35 dependent agencies, it was stated by Bayne Gibson, president of the Chest.

Voorhees' Team Wins.

Hal J. Voorhees, captain of team 72, was the winning captain in the individual subscribers division on Tuesday. Rigged out in the chief's fire hat and rain coat he rode to Five Points on the big hook and ladder truck, and moved the hands of the Community Clock a little more than one-fourth the way round. He was accompanied on the ride by Miss “Bobby” the little three-year-old from the Atlanta Child's home, who was the “queen” of the day at the luncheon, and who not only gave Mr. Voorhees a big squeeze around the neck in the presence of the crowd at the Anseley, but dubbed him her knight, and the knight of the needy children of Atlanta.

The Weather FAIR AND COLDER.

Washington—Forecast: Georgia: Fair, warmer Wednesday and Thursday.

Local Weather Report.

STATES	AND STATE OF	Temperature	Rain
		7 a.m. & 7 p.m.	7 p.m.
Dry temperature	40	37	40

FAIR AND WARMER AGAIN FORECAST

By The Associated Press.
Snow, rain and near-freezing temperatures continued throughout the south Tuesday.

A mixture of snow and rain fell intermittently in Atlanta throughout the day, and four other southern states reported snowfall.

Peaks of the Blue Ridge mountains of North Carolina were said to be snow-capped following a heavy fall of snow through the mountain section, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee were the other states visited by the first snow flurries of the winter.

Temperatures in the south ranged from two to two and three degrees of freezing in several stations, 35° at New Orleans. Rising temperatures in Florida followed that state's first touch of winter Monday, when the mercury tumbled to as low as 46 degrees.

FAIR, WARMER WEATHER FOR CITY.

Far-visioned Atlantans who oiled their new bows Monday night in the face of fair and warmer forecast will take no little satisfaction in the intelligence that the official prediction for today is nothing more than "fair and warmer."

At a late hour Tuesday skies threatened momentarily to renew the snow. Hurries of the morning, and speculation as to just what the weather would be today was in that state technically known as rife.

It was the first snow of the season—albeit nothing unusual for October. C. F. von Herrmann, Atlanta government forecaster said, pointing out that in 1913, a right nice little snow fell as early as October 20. There have been other Octobers and Novembers since then which have seen such weather.

37-Degree Minimum.

The minimum temperature was 37 degrees—at noon. The mercury climbed as high as 40 degrees before the day spent itself. An unexpected and slight disturbance over Georgia and Alabama was responsible for the inaccuracy of Monday night's prediction.

The range of temperature predicted for today is from a low of 40 degrees to a high of 60 degrees with an assurance of no precipitation. However, it was noted that the last frost of summer has been seen in Atlanta and that, while there are no indications of it at present, frost is expected early in November.

New Aerological Station.

Establishment of an aerological station in the local weather bureau office to chart wind velocities and directions and values allowing for the effects of the weather forecasted and the air-mail service of this section today will become effective. Ralph Higgs, late of the Key West station, will be in charge as assistant weather observer.

The Atlanta station is one of the 25 now located along commercial air routes to help the air navigators and also to obtain the general drift of the atmosphere for forecast purposes.

Pure rubber balloons, filled with hydrogen gas, are to be used starting today by Assistant Director Peleg to gather information for the weather service.

The flight of the balloons will be followed through a specially-designed telescope, and the velocity and direction of the wind at various altitudes will be plotted by means of computers and charts.

RICHARDSON OPENS MASONIC MEETING

Here Comes Mars To Visit Star Gazers

BY EARL J. JOHNSON.

Chicgo, October 26.—(AP)—Laying of the corner stone for the new Masonic grand lodge headquarters building here which had been planned for this afternoon was postponed until tomorrow morning because of rain and sleet.

Two sessions of the grand lodge were held today, this being the 14th of that body.

W. S. Richardson, grand master, of Atlanta, presided and delivered his annual message in which he urged "that we shall continue on in harmony and peace."

Election of officers is scheduled as the first business at tomorrow's session of the grand lodge. Augustus G. Miller, of Waycross, is scheduled to be elevated to the position of grand master, if promotions are made according to usual custom.

DR. JAMES H. EAKES TO BE BURIED TODAY

Griffin, Ga., October 26.—(Special) Funeral services for Dr. James H. Eakes, prominent citizen of the Griffin district and one of the most prominent figures in the North Georgia conference, who died Monday night at his home in Griffin after only a few hours' illness, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Methodist church.

tion to the public to visit and inspect navy ships, shore stations and yards on "Navy Day," special authority has been given to allow the two navy planes in Atlanta to land at Midtown at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. T. G. Vandervort, to take a limited number of passengers over the city between the hours of 10 o'clock this morning and 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The planes which will carry the passengers are from the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST LOCAL FIRMS

Two damage suits aggregating $750 were filed Tuesday in the city court of Atlanta by the law firm of Harwell, Fairman and Barrett against a local laundry and dry cleaning company and an Atlanta hotel.

Miss Alma Fowler asked $20,000 damages for the death of her son, Thomas Fowler, 10, who was fatally injured when struck by a truck owned by the dry cleaning company, on Powell street near Fair street, on October 12, 1926.

Mrs. Alma P. Kelpin asked $25,000 damages of the department store for injuries she alleges she received on October 1 as a result of being电梯上被撞倒 on the third floor of the defendant's building. She claims that the operator of the elevator suddenly and without warning started the same just as she placed one foot inside.

who secures subscriptions from the largest percentage of his company's employees. Mr. Clement's ed 1,017 subscriptions totaling $10,155, while Mr. Martin has reported 45 subscriptions with a total of $2,864. Mr. Clement's announcement that 98 per cent of the exchange operators had already subscribed was greeted with rounds of applause.

Bayne Gibson, president of the chest workers' campaign manager, voiced the appreciation of the executive organization for the faithfulness of the workers in sticking to their difficult task of soliciting money in spite of unfavorable weather conditions which made active canvassing personally unpleasant.

These 600 men are making a modest share of the fight brigade that will be down here on October 29th to help the brilliant civic achievements of a cause that has many such achievements to its credit," he declared. "They realize that they are driving to relieve a need as critical and as ever faced a beleaguered army in war time, nor that is a question of life or death for the men who are unfortunate who will look to the chest workers' relief during the coming year and they are going into action like real soldiers."

Coca-Cola Gives $5,000.

The Coca-Cola company's subscription of $5,000 was reported Tuesday as the largest made during the campaign. Sears-Roebuck and company was reported as giving $2,500, the first gift they have made to the chest since the recent establishment of their Atlanta store. The largest individual gift yet reported, exclusive of bank and corporate gifts, was $2,750 made by Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Payne.

The industrial employee division, headed by Robert Green, reported $1,012.25 in subscriptions from 393 subscribers in large industrial plants, or 9 per cent of a $15,000 quota.

The commercial employee division, headed by Josiah T. Rose, pushed up from last place fourth place on percentage standing when it reported $2,188 raised from 175 city, county, state and federal employees toward its quota of $10,000.

The commerce employee division also advanced its standing by reporting a total of $2,751 raised from 583 subscribers in large Atlanta commercial houses, which was 48 per cent of a quota of $15,000.

The industrial subscribers' division reported the largest amount of money and the largest number of subscribers for the day or a total of $101,024.72 from 2,161 subscribers for the campaign up to date. The figure gave the division third place in the percentage of quota raised as it amounted to 28 per cent of the quota of $361,153 assigned to the division.

countrymen in Hamilton, and he remembers them well. They made this known:

"The queen, Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas would like to get close enough to American people to reveal themselves as ordinary humans with human qualities. They made this known today in the royal car when they received the newspaper correspondents for a half hour's informal chat while the train was en route here from Niagara Falls.

It was an entirely informal and friendly meeting during which the queen and prince disclosed their curiosities in things American and Canadian and revealed also their reaction to the round of receptions and ovations marking their passage.

Wants To Doff Royalty.

Queen Marie has enjoyed her experiences, but she would like to abandon her royal robes for a time and, alone and unattended, step into an American home and have a kitchen chat with the housewife. She wants to know how Americans live, how the housewife puts her dinner dishes through a washing machine and other details of home life.

She is interested in American and Canadian agriculture, too, as she is in farming and its ownership. With Princess Nelly she shares a desire to look at giant turbines, intricate harvesting machinery and to inspect the wheels of commerce and industry in motion.

Contact with the man in the street has left a deep impression on the Romanian queen. A member of her entourage related that the queen, seeing a policeman standing at attention as she stepped up to him, saying he must be tired from standing up so long and just for her majesty. The policeman replied:

"Oh, I feel fine and am mighty glad to meet you."

The queen who does not understand why men and peasants cannot afford to perform their due duties and still have friendly contact, enjoyed the incident of the policeman.

"Overwhelmed by American hospitality," was the way a member of her party described the visit of the queen.

Under Union Jack.

Again under the Union Jack, the flag of the land of her birth, Queen Marie, addressing a welcoming assemblage of the Woman's Canadian club, painted a word picture of the past. Canada and Rumania had played in a world war as a basis for their deep ties, women unite to prevent any further conflagrations.

"There is no distance between the hearts of women," she said, "and no frontiers to the one large love which will one day rule all things."

Remarking that she has never forgotten she was born in England, the queen declared: "There is no stronger link binding us together than the association of the British em-

Recalls Aid in War.

She recalled that Canada was among the first to assist Rumania after the war and added:

"When I look around and see many women sitting here, I think of how many of you must be sisters, wives or mothers of boys who went to the big war. Thousands went from Canada and it is there with the feeling of the heart of a mother that I speak to you today."

After leaving the train at the Toronto station Queen Marie stopped to listen to the singing of a Welsh women's choir standing nearby. The queen moved on to another engagement. Thinking of them, she said: "As a child I wore your national costume, and last year I was made a bard of your Eisteddfod, under the name of Marie Galvin."

BY HENRY WALES.

(Copyright 1926, by The Chicago Tribune.)

Paris, Oct. 26.—King Ferdinand, of Rumania, has not recalled Queen Marie from America, because she is not taking orders from any one, not even the royal house. But King Ferdinand has sent his wife several diplomatic messages in cipher urging her to return home, in order to get "in Dutch" in the United States.

That is the sum substance of a careful inquiry by the Tribune Press service in Rumanian circles here and conversations with attachés of the Rumanian legation.

The minister plenipotentiary declined to say anything on the subject, pointing out that his ruler's affairs are beyond discussion.

Lesser dignitaries spoke more freely.

"It is no secret that King Ferdinand consistently opposed the queen's trip," one official said.

"But Marie insisted, claiming proper propaganda in America would strengthen the relations between the two countries and, most important, might be of aid to the Bucharest government in floating a loan in New York."

"Politicians in Bucharest, who also opposed Marie's intrusion into the government's financial operations, possibly interfering with their percentages and commissions, have sent the king newspaper clippings recounting various rows over the queen's activi-

address he is expected to outline the purposes and policies of the league; give his ideas on present-day politics and to make a plea for "clean and untrammeled political rights."

Mr. Gordon is one of the outstanding republicans of the south and organized the league. He will be in charge of the convention and will take a prominent part in its affairs.

The patriotic tone of the convention will be for educational and political advancement, leaders state.

One of the principal speakers on the program will be Congressman Martin L. Davey, a democrat of Ohio.

Opening address will be made this morning by Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor Walter H. Lewis and W. D. Hoffman, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Luther Christie, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, will voice the invocation. Charles E. Cottrell, Atlanta lawyer and chairman of local arrangements, will call the convention to order.

President Coolidge, Vice President Charles Dawes, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, Chauncey M. Depew, Charles E. Hughes and Elwin Root will send greetings and Mr. Gordon and Harry Sparks, prominent Memphis attorney, will speak on the aims and purposes of the league.

Harold Varney, of St. Louis, will

Speakers this afternoon will be Curtiss M. Drexler, Richmond lawyer; George L. Sheldon of Pettit, Miss., former governor of Nebraska; Lord D. H. H. Chicago lawyer and president of the Hamilton club of that city; A. R. Humphrey, New York, representing the National Republican club to the Confederacy at Stone mountain.

The closing session will be presided over by James Alton Jones, on "Fundamental American Ideas," and Dr. John Wesley Hill, president of Lincoln university, who will speak on "The Principles of Lincoln Applied to Present-Day Problems."

Charles A. Macaulay, president of the Union League club of that city, will speak at Thursday's luncheon session sponsored by Hugh S. Sutton, of New Orleans, president of the Alexander Hamilton club of Louisiana. After this session the convention will adjourn in a body to visit the memorial to the Confederacy at Stone mountain.

The closing session will be presided over by Paul W. Jones, Jr., of Birmingham; Dr. James Alton Jones, on "Fundamental American Ideas," and Dr. John Wesley Hill, president of Lincoln university, who will speak on "The Principles of Lincoln Applied to Present-Day Problems."

smoke screens of depression. Even assuming that the cotton estimate of Monday is correct, the enormous sum of $1,090,875,000 will be brought into the cotton states at the low price of 12 cents a pound. Add to this another minimum of $250,000,000 from cotton seed and we have a grand total of $1,340,875,000. Why are we "bellyaching" when we know that the south today grows the major part of every other merchantable commodity supplied to domestic and foreign commerce? It illustrates the impulsive disposition of our people to cry "wolf" when there is no wolf.

It is hoped the movement to curtail next year's production may be successful, but it must cover the crop area from ocean to ocean like a blanket, and it must be controlled by the firm hand of the credit agencies, and not left to voluntary action on the part of farmers.

In the meantime the one never failing part of security is the farm program that makes food and feed and pasture and live stock and other than cotton cash commodities, the one and invincible objective—that makes cotton purely a surplus.

STOP "BELLYACHING!"

In the preliminary steps taken Monday by a group of Atlanta bankers looking to the completed organization of a holding corporation to withdraw 300,000 bales of Georgia cotton from the market and finance the same, it is noted that J. E. Conwell, president of the Georgia Cooperative Association, is a member of the control committee. It is assumed, therefore, that the machinery of that institution, already set up for the purpose of pooling and orderly marketing, may be partially if not wholly employed. This was clearly the sentiment of the conference held in Atlanta Saturday presided over by Eugene Meyer, Jr., who is chairman of the president's special cotton committee to cooperate with southern bankers and cotton farmers.

It is recalled that Mills B. Lane, president of the Citizens and Southern bank, of Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Atlanta, Athens and Valdosta—covering the entire cotton area of the state—made that suggestion. He also declared—and this directly involves the crux of the whole matter—that his institutions would themselves, without federal or other help, finance the retirement of the proposed 300,000 bales in this state—though he felt that all the larger banks would want to cooperate—if there could be tangible assurance that the cotton producers would curtail their 1927 acreage from 25 to 40 per cent.

This is the "if" that must enter into any successful holding movement, and it is also the "if" that has pointed out, like a beacon in the night, the shoals upon which every organized cotton reduction since the beginning of time has drifted. The present movement will drift upon the same shoals unless the credit agencies take the situation vigorously in hand and force a reduction in '27 acreage not only in the southeast, but most particularly in the great arid territory of the west, from Texas to California, where acreage increases have been marked each year and where the distress in the present situation finds its origin.

The unvarnished truth is Georgia has materially reduced her acreage and her cotton production. This state used to grow an average of 2,000,000 bales. This year the estimate of Monday's forecast put the production at only 1,400,000 bales in round figures. That is a most drastic reduction, and yet Georgia and every other state in the humid belt suffers from the over-production in the west.

Therefore, and despite the failure of reduction movements in the past, and the disposition of some farmers to increase on the false premise that other farmers are going to reduce, the folly of any movement that is not whole-heartedly cooperated in by the farmers of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, California and other states of the southwestern belt, is obvious.

Georgia is in good shape. When the state grew 2,000,000 bales of cheap cotton every dollar was absorbed in purchased supplies, with a deficit left to tell the story of cotton slavery. Today we are growing those supplies in greatly increased quantities, not to the extent that we ought, but with a heartening interest in buying from ourselves what we once imported entirely, and owed a balance on when the crop was sold. We are getting away from those days of distress. Crop balancing has shown us a new light in the skies. And we are today more independent, despite the price of cotton, than ever before. That is to say, cotton is more of a surplus than it ever was.

The cold fact is there is entirely too much calamity howling about the cotton situation—far more than the facts justify. In a large measure these calamity howlers and "joy-killers" are without foundation upon which to send up their

(From "The Book Without a Name.")

"I have lived by this ancient forest for nearly 30 years and only today have I found a dead bird. It lay in the land without a fluttered feather. I had never seen such a bird fly away with the years. I am in wonder concerning birds that die. So rare must death be in the forest that it were a pleasing fancy to think these songsters immortal. It did not appear that a hawk had struck the little creature, but it had been gorged upon by a raven. I found that the sun and a tree had conspired together to shadow the little couch of grass.

"I could not help musing as I buried it in a coffin of leaves, once, they say, Jesus mused, 'Ach, why do you say such a thing?' I am not sure. Does any god see such an end to such a little day? I seldom have seen death in the forest, but I know that it is here."

Cotton Consumption

More Important

Than Production

Editor Constitution: Apparently the sole thought in connection with the cotton situation is a reduction of cotton acreage. Nowhere have I noted the thought that the problem confronting the south is increased consumption of cotton and not the curtailment of acreage given over to the raising of cotton.

With all the world having unlimited uses for cotton, with a constant increase in the population of all lands, with unlimited possibilities for the finding of new uses for cotton, and the possibility of much greater consumption of every individual now in cotton, it is my belief that the world could and would within a few brief years consume an annual crop of 20,000,000 bales at a price range of, at least, 18 to 22 cents.

When it comes to cotton, apparently no thought has ever been given to the fact that it has never occurred to anyone that advertising combined with laboratory tests for the finding of new uses and new outlets for cotton have unlimited possibilities for increasing consumption.

These "new efforts with proper financing of the crop and orderly marketing and in the opinion of the writer, the south's greatest problem will be solved within the course of a few years.

Steel, rubber and automobiles are excellent illustrations of big vision in the part of the big men in the south.

The history of each, over the last 20 years, has been constant growth and constantly increasing markets.

Steel and rubber have found many new varieties of use, and advertising pages of our great newspapers and magazines have been the means of enlightenment through which the public was led to adopt daily use of steel and rubber products in an infinite variety of new forms.

Give cotton the brains and backing of steel, rubber and automobiles and that fleece will be quite the south.

With such the south has the wilder hopes of our greatest dreams.

Quite likely the question will arise: "What will be the best means of marketing the crop; what methods to adopt?" Give us a demand equal to or greater than the annual output and the marketing process will, as time goes on, adjust itself.

There should be strong white republican organizations in the southern states as in New York or Vermont or Illinois or California, but the creation of such a condition of republicanism in the other sections of the country than that heretofore shown.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman.

Will you give your estimate of Theodore Dreiser's latest novel, "An American Tragedy?"

Despite its length and involved style this is a novel from which there is no escape. Its bulk is outdone by its meanness and by a masculine massiveness which pervades the whole story.

The record of a moral invertebrate who seduces and kills his sweetheart, depicted with a wealth of details drawn out into 400,000 words, does not offer many inducements to the mediocre, obviously. Dreiser's writing but that, however, and in his powerful grasp Arthur Griffith's sordid tale becomes as clay in the hands of the potter. It would seem that the author could not utter weakly than he did.

Is not this feeling warranted? I submit that signs of a large reversal of spiritual vitality and a general decadence abound in art.

In art, science, philosophy, literature, commerce and internationalism, as well as in religious circles, there are stirrings of the Spirit's winds.

They may not be manifest to men as women, but I believe that every religious movement must mean a return to forms and expressions of the past.

After the war, there was a return of these elements, but mis-taken souls judge religion by arbitrary standards which surely need revision. Meanwhile the old order gives place to the new, and God fulfills himself in ever broadening ways of love, truth and beauty.

The Evolution of the Gypsy!

Those of us who can remember as far back as the Spanish-American war, will recall the gypsy pest of our childhood days. Picturesque if you will—but a pest nevertheless.

Their colorful caravans roamed the countryside, their camps were pitched near the river bottoms. Like the Arab, they came and went in the night and very often the portable belongings of the natives went with them.

The gypsy peddled merchandise of questionable value and sold it at outrageous prices, quality considered. In fact it was from this type of "salesman" that we have derived the expressive term "gyp"—to gyp or to be gypped, meaning to be imposed upon or bamboozled; to be outwitted in a bargain by a sharper.

Legislation, the watchfulness of city police and country constables did much to banish the gypsy pest, but the great potent force behind the disappearance of the gypsy was PUBLIC OPINION. The gypsy became unpopular, persona non grata in every community from ocean to ocean, so the gypsy HAD TO GO.

And while the gypsy of 25 or 30 years ago was a pest, his successor, the present day "Bell Ringer," is a positive and grave menace—a menace to the community in which he operates—a menace which if thoroughly understood by the public would be sufficient to banish the "Bell Ringer" just as effectively as the gypsy.

It is because the PUBLIC HAS NOT UNDERSTOOD this menace that the "Bell Ringer" has been enabled to thrive in this city. The mission of this advertisement and others to follow, is to EXPLAIN to our men and women that every time they patronize a peddler for an out-of-town concern, they are TAKING DOLLARS OUT OF THEIR POCKETS IN A DOUBLE SENSE; first, to pay for the often questionable merchandise which they buy and, secondly, BECAUSE THEY ARE TAKING THAT MONEY OUT OF CIRCULATION HERE AND SENDING IT AWAY FROM THEIR OWN CITY AND STATE.

This city has a large number of very fine retail stores, as fine as any in the country. Our merchants have new fresh stocks of merchandise at fair, reasonable prices. When you patronize local merchants you have an opportunity to SEE the goods you buy—to return them and get your money back if dissatisfied. When you buy from local merchants you release your dollars to HELP

The dollars you pay local merchants for their wares PERHAPS HELP PAY THE SALARY OF A MEMBER OF YOUR FAMILY who may be employed by a merchant. When you buy from a local merchant you keep your money in circulation right here in your own home town—and SOME OF THAT MONEY COMES BACK TO YOU AGAIN.

When you buy from a peddler, a canvasser or "Bell Ringer," the exact opposite is true. The dollars you pay the "Bell Ringer" are sent out of your town to support some FOREIGN INSTITUTION. Those dollars never come back—never can come back to you. And those dollars are taken out of the cash registers of your local stores, out of the payroll on which appears, perhaps, the name of a member of your family.

When you buy from a peddler at your door, you usually buy "a pig in a poke." Frequently you do not see the actual merchandise until it is delivered to you by mail or express C. O. D. It's too late then to make a complaint. "Let the buyer beware," is the motto of the "Bell Ringer." When you buy from a peddler you are attracted by a tempting price and by the specious arguments of the oily-tongued salesman to the effect that his house can undersell local merchants because of "lower over-head," "cheaper distribution" and like time-worn and fallacious selling propaganda. But, you forget that cheap price inevitably means cheap merchandise, false economy and disappointment in the end.

And you also forget that every time you buy from an outside peddler you are STRIKING AT THE VERY ROOTS OF THE PROSPERITY OF YOUR OWN COMMUNITY. No community can exist without the co-operation of its members. If our city is to grow and expand and prosper, local business must grow—local merchants must thrive. They cannot do this if YOUR BUSINESS is given to concerns outside of the city and state. Local merchants need your business—they are entitled to it. You need local merchants and the merchandise they sell you at a fair price.

DON'T BUY GYPSY MERCHANDISE! Patronize your home town stores!

More about the descendants of the Gypsies later.

Watch for the announcements, they should prove most interesting.

Daviscourt, Browning to Settle Grudge Tonight

Rivals to Wrestle At City Auditorium In Feature of Show

Time of Opening Bout Set for 8:15—All Wrestlers Are in Excellent Shape for Matches—John Contos, Promoter, to Referee Main Bout Between Stars.

Wrestling Program

Dick Daviscourt vs. Jim Browning, 2 hours, 2 falls out of 3. John Paxos vs. Farmer McLeod, 2 hours, 2 falls out of 3. Young Crawley vs. George Erwin, 20 minutes, one fall. Time—8:15. Place—Auditorium.

In reverse order, that program will be presented, regardless of climatic conditions, in the famous Auditorium playhouse tonight, and should develop into one of the greatest wrestling spectacles in the city's long and honorable grappling career, in the estimation of men wise in sport matters and interested in tonight's doings.

Because of the length of the show, Promoter Contos announced Tuesday night that the opening number would be shopped up to 8:15 and shortened to 20 minutes in order that the principals can crawl through the ropes a few minutes earlier for their exhibitions of the manly art of pushing and hauling and crushing which has come to be the most popular indoor sport.

Two Stars Arrive.

Jim Browning, rising young Kannan, and "Farmer" McLeod, an equally skillful young man, lifted the last worries from the mind of John Contos Tuesday night when both blew in from different directions, Browning to meet Daviscourt and McLeod to meet the rest of the gallant and ambitious Paxos crew.

It is a waste of space to attempt to reintroduce such a famous, satirizing performer as Daviscourt, often referred to as the "manpest man on the mat," because of his devil-may-care tactics and willingness to battle to the last inch, and many of all of them. His most recent achievement in an Atlanta ring was the conquest of Tony Dixiechi, of Philadelphia, in quick order, the latter being carried to the hospital for repairs at the conclusion of the match. Jim Browning, too, is well known, and the home fans know that he has proved his ability by holding the Masked Marvel to a draw, with one fatal aprice. The Marvel is nobody's easy mark.

John Paxos has been here before several times, and he has a stock of talk to add to the general cheer when he comes to victory. John likes Atlanta and has lofty ambitions in the most world, so there is little need to fear that his match with "Farmer" McLeod will be anything save a thriller. The "Farmer" is a real bulldog, well known as a smashing battle hero with Jimmy London some months ago, when he flopped the Greek con-

Local Stars Ready.

As to the ability of George Erwin and young Crawley, the 20-minute boys, nothing is known save to their friends and acquaintances who are certain to be present to lend their cheering to men to their favorites. They are local lads and well equipped for the profession. Erwin is said to weigh around 132 pounds, while Crawley will go to 150, but Erwin probably

CRIMSON TIDE PLUNGES INTO HARDTRAINING

Birmingham, Ala., October 26.—(AP) Alabama's four college football teams, the University, Alabama Poly Technic, Birmingham-Southern and Howard will appear in four different cities of the state this week in opposition teams which are regarded as obstacles in the path to greater triumphs.

The Crimson Tide today plunged into the midst of intensive training for the home coming contest with Louisiana State university at Tuscaloosa, Saturday. Coach Wallace Wade, keeping in mind the narrow escape that the University had in the Sewannee battle last week, has turned his attention to perfection of the Tide's aerial attack and to further strengthening of the defense.

Auburn Meets Sewannee.

Alabama Polytechnic will oppose Alabama's opponent of last week, Sewannee, in renewal of athletic relations at Montgomery, Saturday. Due to Sewannee's brilliant exhibition against Alabama, Auburn coaches are working feverishly to perfect the machine which turned Tulane back last week at New Orleans.

Birmingham-Southern looks to the game with Jacksonville Normal at Gadsden as the only "rest" period in the 1926 schedule, but the Panthers have had little let-up in practice.

Last week's contest with Chattanooga in the Tennessee city weakened the Panther eleven somewhat, several men being injured in the game which resulted in a 7-7 tie and which upset the "iron" budget.

Mississippi college, coming out of a 43-12 tussle with Millsaps, will invade Birmingham this week to oppose Howard college. The game is scheduled for Saturday, but efforts were being made tonight to shift the contest to Friday, instead, and Auburn fans requested the change in order that they might attend the game here and those in Montgomery and Tuscaloosa. Howard's Bulldog eleven, defeated last week by Mercer, will turn to the Mississippi college clash with the knowledge that another loss to S. J. A. A. team would virtually eliminate them from the 1926 race.

Alabama and Auburn came out of last week's round with few injuries but Howard's list of casualties was increased by two additions. All of the state teams tonight expect to enter this week's contests with practically full strength.

ARMY TEAM SCENTS WIN OVER YALE

New York, October 26.—(AP) The Army mule stalks into the bowl at New Haven, on Saturday, scenting victory over a Yale team in 15 years.

Not since 1911 have flying West Point hoofs left the imprint of a defeat on the flanks of the Bulldog. Twice since then, however, Army has drawn off with honors even, the record showing its games in 1922 and 1924.

Army Was Favorite.

Army, with a powerful machine that had swept aside Notre Dame, met Yale two weeks before the Eli eleven had been stampeded by Pennsylvania. The soldier team was a heavy favorite, but was completely routed by Ted Jon's brilliant backs, 28-7.

Traditional foes will grapple in at least four other outstanding games, with Brown primed to turn the tables on Dartmouth after six straight defeats. Yale, Virginia Military, smoothed by Fordham in 1922 and 1925, saw a similar opportunity in its game here against the Maroon.

Records indicate that Brown always has proved a troublesome foe for Dartmouth.

Five straight victories have fallen to the Maroon offensive this season, with last week's triumph over Yale at 60 standing out as the team's greatest achievement.

Two other battles between rivals of long standing pit Washington and Jefferson against Lafayette and Cornell, and again Columbia has been defeated this year, but records indicate Lafayette has put together the higher-powered scoring team.

Cornell has topped Geneva, Niagara, Williams and Chicago State thus far, while Columbia's only setback came at the hands of Ohio State.

Charley Rogers Out of Penn Lineup

Philadelphia, October 26.—(AP) Charley Rogers, Pennsylvania's brilliant halfback, is confined to his bed with an attack of intestinal indisposition, and may not be able to play against the University of Illinois Saturday.

Rogers, however, will be taken on the eastern invasion, even though he may be kept on the sidelines. He is regarded as the most important link in the Red and Blue's "hidden ball" attack that has proved so successful thus far.

'SHIRT' BOSTON ENTERS FINALS OF Y TOURNAMENT

In one of the most thrilling matches of the Y. M. C. A. handball tournament being held at the Y, "Shirt" Boston won his way to the finals by defeating U. S. Wilkinson in the semi-finals. He will meet Fred Cole, Y. ace, in the finals this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Y court if the weather is favorable.

This match was undoubtedly the most gripping match of the tournament. Shots that seemed impossible were returned and "kills" were shot with deadly accuracy. The first match went to "Speedy" Wilkinson by the score of 21-17. After losing his first match, "Shirt" was forced to fight an uphill battle during the course of the match. In the final game Wilkinson led Boston 17-10, when Boston cut loose with a terrific attack and defeated Wilkinson 21-18. With each having won one game, the final game was a nerve-racking affair as both were playing under a great strain.

The match see-sawed with neither side getting a commanding lead. In the final game Wilkinson was forced to call time out several times due to exhaustion. Wilkinson seemed to be in better condition but he, too, was showing the strain. Finally they tied the score 20-20 which made it necessary for one man to get two consecutive points. They got two points and it again stood 21-21. Then Boston succeeded in making the score 23-21. The final game between Fred Cole and "Shirt" Boston is to be the best match of the tournament but that semi-final match between Wilkinson and Boston will be forgotten in local handball circles. The final match will go three best games out of five. The champion will be given a medal by the Y. M. C. A. physical department.

Jacket Squad Holds Training Class in Gym

BY CARTER BARRON.

Forced from their own field of work by the mean weather that visited Grant field Tuesday afternoon, an unwelcome guest, the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets put in their daily practice in the gymnasium after warming up on the radiators.

A scrimmage that resembled a game of tag more than it did a football practice was indulged in by the boys who are anxious to get in shape for the trip to South Bend where they play the Irishmen of Notre Dame Saturday.

The "Black Devils" furnished the Notre Dame plays for the Jackets. The varsity men were on the defense while the "Devils" spent the afternoon playing an offensive game.

A trip around the indoor track in the gym about a mile also was included in the workout. The boys were trotted around the indoor oval before the parlor scrimmage took place. Having finished the cross-country run, they were sent through a bit of signal work before taking on the "Devils" in the parlor game.

Pool Expected Back.

Owen Pool, captain of the 1926 eleven, was doing his part of the work Tuesday and gave promise of being in the game against the Irishmen Saturday. It is expected that he will take his place at the center of the line when the Tornado lines up against Notre Dame. Alexander did not state whether he would permit Pool to play in the Notre Dame game or not.

Angry and Martin, the only injured members on the team, are still having trouble with their injuries and sickness but are expected to be in shape for the trip to South Bend. Angley

Petrels Hold Long Workout Despite Bad Weather

Garlington Injured In Long Scrimmage Against Frosh Team

Team Goes Through Heavy Scrimmage With Freshmen
Using Furman Plays on Muddy Field—Backfield
Star's Injury is Hard Blow to Oglethorpe.

BY ALTON REDFEARN.
ALTHOUGH forced to practice on a muddy field, the Stormy Petrels of Oglethorpe splashed their way through an extremely hard practice session Tuesday afternoon on Hermance field preparing for the tilt with the Purple Hurricane of Furman, which will be played at Spiller's field Saturday. It will also be the only game in Atlanta that day.

"Stout" Garlington, varsity right-half, suffered a broken nose in the scramble Tuesday with Coach Homer Clyde Chestnut's Rat eleven. At present it is not known whether he will be able to play against Furman or not. If Garlington should have to refrain from play Saturday, it would be a severe blow to Oglethorpe, for he is one of the best ground gainers on the team and is without a doubt the best defensive back. It is expected that it will be possible to secure a special made head gear for him, which will offer protection to his injured nose and allow him to play.

Besides Garlington, Chestnut and Sims are unable to practice. Chestnut, who has been going extremely well in the past few practices, is in the infirmary because of a light attack of the gripe. Sims, another prominent player who has been doing well also, is suffering with a badly infected jaw which was hurt in the game against Arkansas Poly. Both Chestnut and Sims have been playing quite a bit lately and their loss will be keenly felt.

However, regardless of injuries, the Petrels are rather jubilant and are out to upset the "dope bucket," and win from the much touted Purple Hurricane. In the two practices held thus far, plenty of fight has been displayed on Hermance field, which is an indication that things are extremely serious. There is no question about it, the Purple will be beaten Saturday.

A long scrimmage was the feature of the workout Tuesday, the first variance opposing the Rats. The Junior Petrels were kept on the offensive practically all the afternoon and were using the Furman plays. The varsity experienced no little difficulty in stopping the off tackle thrusts of the Rats at first, but as the scrimmage wore on the frosh were stopped almost at will by the hard driving Petrel defense.

Coach Robertson announced Tuesday that defensive practice would continue each afternoon the rest of the week, in order to conquer Furman for their powerful offense must be stopped completely. He also said that a part

European Champ Will Invade U. S.

Buenos Aires, October 26.—(AP)—Paulino Uzcudun, of Spain, holder of the European heavyweight boxing championship, is going to the United States to seek further pugilistic honors. He will sail from Buenos Aires for New York November 4.

He won the European title from Ermilio Spalla, Italian, at Barcelona last May, and came to Buenos Aires some time ago seeking a match with Luis Angel Firpo. He failed to lure the Argentine into the ring, however.

What, No Cauliflower?

The boxing fans (all 12 of them) who attended the entertainment at city auditorium Tuesday night were not disappointed in the card—Because there was no card.

There were something like 250 men, women and children of all ages, sizes, complexions and temperaments in the audience which waited impatiently until the announcement was made that the bout had been called off and there were about 500 in the line to have their money refunded—at least that was the appearance.

The promoters can not be blamed for calling off the bouts under the circumstances. There was not enough money in the house to buy water for the water bucket and promoters are not supposed to be philanthropic to the sport fans of Atlanta. BUT the promoters are to be blamed for not calling off the card when the only well-known fighter on the card was unable to appear.

Jack Renault was scheduled to fight and the card was announced with Renault as a headliner. Jack's opponent, was unable to make the match and the Murphy-Fay bout was substituted. This was a mistake and was hardly fair to the fans. Not that Murphy and Fay are not good fighters. They are both scappers of the first water but can hardly be classed with Jack Renault even though that individual is growing old himself.

The performance of Tuesday night may be a death blow to the fight game in Atlanta. The customers went away dissatisfied (though Promoter Gossett did the fair thing and refunded their money) and it will take a mighty good card to lure those people to the auditorium again soon.

The only way a promoter can revive the fight game in this city is to bring in a couple of top-notchers and even at that he will have to plan on losing money for a time or two until the fans are convinced that he is producing the goods.

Maybe the wrestling game as promoted by John Contos is partially responsible for the lack of interest in fighting. The size of the house at the wrestling match tonight will answer that question. At any rate it is certain that two athletic cards in as many nights is about one too many. That is conclusively proven. Let it be a lesson to promoters.

Storm Warning.

With the Yellow Jackets of Tech, swarming in preparation for a long flight to South Bend, where they will attempt to rout the Irish of Notre Dame on Saturday, the sporting enthusiasts of Atlanta still have a great game to look forward to in this city.

The Stormy Petrels of Oglethorpe will meet the Purple Hurricane of Furman, in the most important game of the S. I. A. season at Spiller's park Saturday, and anyone who thinks this will not be a scrap, must guess again.

The conquerors of Tech and Georgia will meet in a "little world's series" and they have more than a mere victory at stake because the winner of this battle will have an excellent claim to the championship of that loop. Oglethorpe has suffered one conference defeat at the hands of Howard, while Furman is still undefeated, but if Oglethorpe can down the Purple Hurricane, the Petrels will have as good a claim to the title as the Carolinians.

The dope gives the Furman outfit the edge of Oglethorpe, but the Petrels are fighting with their backs to the wall and they are fighting in their home town for the first time in the season. But last year the Centre outfit was doped to beat the Petrels but they did not, and the fans who went to Spiller's on that Saturday saw one of the best games of football to be witnessed in Atlanta during the year.

With the Jackets invading the north, Spiller's should be crowded to capacity for the game and this column does not fear to take the responsibility of urging fans to see the game if they desire some real football.

N. Y. BOXING COMMISSION ORDERS FIGHT

New York, October 26.—(AP)—Tex Rickard's plans for a heavyweight championship fight next September once more have come into conflict with the rules of the New York state athletic commission.

James A. Farley, chairman of the board, whose support of the challenge of Harry Wills, led to the shifting of the Dempsey-Tunney battle to Philadelphia, today said the six months period within which all champions are required by the New York regulations to defend their crowns, would apply to Tunney the same as it had to Dempsey and all other title holders.

To comply with this rule, Gene Tunney would have to sign for a championship match before next April. Thus far there is only one application for a title fight before the commission. This came from Jack Sharkey, of Boston, who recently won decisively over Wills.

Murphy Fails to Fight In Face of Subpoenas

Frankie Murphy momentarily adopted the role portrayed lately by Jack Dempsey last night, that of subpoena dodging. In fact, he dodged subpoenas so strenuously that he even steered clear of the ring at the city auditorium where he was to fight Harry Fay and the bout was called off.

Some minutes before the card was scheduled to open, Frankie was flooded with garnishments from a number of creditors, among which was one from W. L. "Red" Manning, operator of the Fulton Taxi service for $18.50. In face of the fact that he would probably be deprived of his share of the gate receipts even if he did fight, Fay arranged altogether and the bout was off.

Signals Mixed.

In announcing to the fans assembled, which assemblage totalled about $700 in receipts, that the remainder of the card would be presented and if the fans were not satisfied they could get their money back at the box office, the announcer got his signals mixed and the general understanding was that the whole card was cancelled. Thus started a general trek toward the exits and when the commissioners summoned to decide the deadheads remained to witness the departure.

However, Albert Gossett, matchmaker, who lost handsomely through the failure of the card to go through, says that he is planning another show in the near future, though no definite date has been decided. He announced following the fiasco that among the battles to be next year would probably be Young Wallace and K. O. Moore, both of whom were deprived of an opportunity to show through the general misunderstanding that caused an empty auditorium when to all appearance at least a partly full one should have existed.

So fast was the chase, Page said, that a part of the time he believed the pack was running by sight as for more than a mile the big red fox was to the start court before swinging into a circle to a den where he could take refuge from the furious pack at his heels.

As the jumping pack of 30 joined in full cry other hounds (harking) to the cry, joined in and at the end where Reynard took a hole, 50 were in full cry.

A lone spectator, Dr. Mischa Cashier, of Louisville, witnessed the finish, a finish such as every fox hunter longs to see—50 hours running shoulder to shoulder, first one then another setting the pace and then other hounds barking to the pack's cry and joining fresh and taking the lead.

The results of such a chase gave the judges an extraordinary opportunity to score the entries and tonight the race appeared to belong to any remaining bound.

Twenty-nine "babblers" and "loafers" were scratched today leaving still a record field for the final drive.

65 ENTRIES CONTINUE RUN IN FOX TRIALS

Dawson Springs, Ky., October 26.—(AP)—A chase outstanding for its speed and driving was the high light of today's race in the second day's running of the 104th annual chase futurity worth $1,000 and featuring 65 hours of the 104 starting still contesting for a division of the purse.

Herman C. Page, Newark, N. J., master of hounds said that the race was so unusual that it occurred but once in a lifetime. To find so large a percentage of the starting field still in full cry after so long a time was unprecedented.

Twenty-nine "babblers" and "loafers" were scratched today leaving still a record field for the final drive.

Clarke Quits As Vice-President Of Pittsburgh Club

Resignation Follows Release Of McKechnie As Pilot Of Pirates

Action of Vice President-Assistant Manager of Club Will Be Acted Upon Thursday—Resignation Will Be Accepted, it is Indicated by Dreyfuss.

Pittsburgh, Pa., October 26.—(By Associated Press)—Fred C. Clarke tonight tendered his resignation as vice president and assistant manager of the Pittsburgh National league baseball club. The resignation will be acted upon by the board of directors on Thursday.

It was around Clarke that the trouble centered which resulted in the release of Captain Max Carey, Babe Adams and Carson Bigbee shortly before the 1926 season closed. These three players were charged with having started a movement to have Clarke removed from the bench during games.

Clarke, whose home is in Kansas, is a veteran player and former manager of the Pirates, having served in that capacity from 1900 to 1915. He was called back to the club as assistant manager and vice president late in 1925, the year the Pirates won the world championship.

His resignation follows the release of Bill McKenzie as manager and the appointment of Donie Bush to take over the managerial reins. There was no intimation on the part of club officials as to what action would be taken on Clarke's resignation, but the general opinion prevalent that it would be accepted inasmuch as President Dreyfuss has said that Bush would be given a free hand in selecting his nides.

MODERN FOOTBALL

BY BENNY FRIEDMAN

(Captain and Quarterback Coaches' 1925 All-American)

(NOTE.—When the three great coaches, Knute Rockne, Glenn Warner and "Tad" Friedman, selected a 1925 all-American team, they were unanimous on one player. Friedman selected Michigan end Tad Jones as the all-star selection both as quarter and captain. Friedman had been coach of the Michigan team for the past two years. He had been coach of the team for the past two years, though he had never called his own signal inside an opponent's 20-yard line. He is one of the most famous field generals of all time, one of the three great passers of all time, and one of the greatest fullbacks of all time. He is a great runner, because of his change of pace and straight-arm, and a great blocker and tackler. This year his sense of strategy places him as the leader of the Michigan team. He is a great player, but not for the spectator. He makes the subtleties of football intelligible to the layman as he introduces the refinements of his own mastery to other men in the game.)

TELEGRAMS

Keying the Team.

Strategy and psychology are closely related. Strategy, in football, depends largely upon the extent upon psychology.

Every coach who has been successful owes much of that success to psychology. If the coach does not understand human nature then he will never get anywhere in football.

Knute Rockne, Gilmour Dobie, Glenn S. Warner, Fielding H. Yost, W. W. Roper, Tad Jones, Robert C. Zuppke, Dr. J. W. Wilce and others who have gained fame as coaches understand the men they teach. They know how to "get to the bottom of them."

Much football strategy occurs before the whistle blows. Much of it is planned in conference by the coaches and the players in the locker room.

What a team does in a game depends to a large extent upon the mental condition of that team. The coach creates the mental condition. He must often resort to strategy to bring his team to the proper pitch.

Not many years ago a leading southern team played a leading northern team in the south. The game was looked upon as a mere practice romp by the northern team.

The unexpected happened. The northerners encountered stiff opposition. They had met all year.

The southerners fought like eleven demons and held this crack combination from the north to a scoreless tie. It was the only game the northern team failed to win that year.

The southerners had apparently played well above their speed. On competitive strength the northerners should have won by three touchdowns.

A story was told later on which explained the showing of the southern team.

Refrigerant Civil War.

Before the squad took the field a few minutes before the start of the game, a coach told his players:

"Boys, over yonder lies a cemetery.

Most of its graves are the graves of Confederate dead, the graves of your grandfathers, your great uncles, the graves of your forbears. Over you are the graves where rest the men that fought for the south. They were killed on the field of battle fighting against the north."

"Boys, you are going out this afternoon to meet the descendants of the men that opposed your forbears on the field of battle. You are going out to meet the men of the north. You will be faced with men with the graves of the men that opposed the south that your forbears fought for nobly, honorably but without success. Boys, go out there and show them what the south can do today."

And any man who opposed the southerners that afternoon will tell you today that the descendants of the Confederacy did nobly. Also, to their further credit let it be said that they did it cleanly.

A coach must be resourceful. Keying up a football team is not an easy task. It frequently becomes difficult.

There was a time when college football was principally for teams.

A major college eleven, with a schedule of nine games, would not play more than two good rivals. This simplified the task of the coach. He had to key his team up for only two games and this was not difficult. Seven games would be little more than practice tilts and the team could continue to improve winning because it had so much mechanical ability.

It is different now. The majority of major college teams today do not engage in more than two or three easy games; all their other engagements are with opponents as good or nearly as good as they are. That makes it much harder for the coach. He has to keep his team keyed up. He has to get his players in the desired mental condition week after week for six or seven weeks. That is next to impossible.

Key for Few Games.

Leading coaches point for two or three games, knowing that they cannot key their teams to the highest pitch for any more than two or three.

If they can win the few that they select as the most desirable they will call the season successful, even if they are tied or beaten by a few other opponents.

Crowd psychology plays its part in the general scheme of things. If you have never played football you cannot imagine just what an effect a crowd can have on a team. You cannot appreciate what it means being down inside your own five-yard line with your opponents smashing against the tried line, your teammates to hold the battle cry "Hold 'em, team!" roll across the gridiron propelled by several thousand throats.

It has prevented many touchdowns, this cry. It has brought out what is called the "extra ounce," the lingering shreds of reserve energy. It has pushed teams to levels of fierce effort that they never would have reached otherwise.

And when your team is on the offense, and you are driving toward your opponent's goal line with only a few yards to gain for touchdown, and your efforts gain feet instead of yards, the other great battle cry of the gridiron, "Tackle, team!" comes thundering from the stands, you make an actual physical response. Just as well-

Tablets Will Be Unveiled At Manget Home for Girls

Impressive ceremonies will mark the unveiling of two memorial tablets at the Eliza Manget Home for Girls at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at 42 Fair street, S. E., according to Mrs. Marguerite Murphy, president of the Witches' club, which bought the residence some years back and turned it over to be used as a home for working girls.

One of the tablets is to be placed outside the home and is being donated by John A. Mangel, director on the board of the home for girls, in appreciation of the work of the Witches' club and the memory of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Manget. It will be presented to the home and club by James Morton, in the absence of Mr. Mangel from the city.

Immediately following these exercises, a tablet to the memory of Mrs. Viola Gray Ivy, formerly vice president of the Witches' club and an active member, and the first member of the club to die, will be placed. The tablet, presented by the club, is to be located on the door of the dining room which was furnished by Mrs. Ivy's mother, Mrs. A. O. Woodward, and her sister, Mrs. W. J. Poole.

The unveiling of the tablets at the home, which has grown to considerable influence under the direction of Mrs. E. B. Combs, will be performed by Miss Elizabeth Ann Tally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tally, and mascot of the Witches' club; Mrs. Murphy, James Morton, Walter McElreath and others.

Murder Charged Frank Gillespie In Bost Killing

An indictment charging murder was returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury against Frank P. Gillespie, son of City Detective Ben Gillespie, in connection with the fatal shooting on October 21 of R. P. Bost at the home of Mrs. Artie Collins, at 2, Haynes street.

Following the shooting Gillespie is alleged to have made a statement in which he declared that he shot Bost in self-defense when the latter attacked him with a knife. No definite date for trial has been set. However attaches in the offices of Solicitor General John A. Boykin stated the he may be placed on trial the latter part of November.

"The question between the parties is whether you will support a solid republican candidate in Washington. The question between the parties is whether you will have a thoroughly trained, well equipped senator of great influence in the senate or a new man whose political principles you do not approve."

"I am well aware that there are no divisions in the party," said Senator Wadsworth, "but I think the party is in a position to elect Senator Wadsworth, who would be a natural misfitting" and "very unintelligent performance for the people of the state of New York." "A vote not cast for Wadsworth," he said, "is in effect a vote cast for Judge Robert F. Wagner. If Judge Wagner were chosen with all his ability, which I do not underestimate, it would take him years to reach the level of experience on which Senator Wadsworth now stands."

DENTAL COLLEGE OFFICERS TO VISIT FLORIDA SOCIETY

Dr. Sheppard W. Foster, president; Dr. Ralph R. Byrnes, executive dean; will be principal speakers at a meeting of the Florida State Dental society at the Claremont hotel, Daytona Beach, October 28, 29 and 30.

Dr. Foster and Dr. Hinman will be speakers at a banquet to be given by the society, while Dr. Byrnes will read a paper before the convention on "The Dentist's Status in the Society of

JUDGE TO DEMAND
CRIMINAL ACTION
IN DIVORCE PLEAS

Savannah, Ga., October 26.—(AP)—Declaring, in effect, that the granting of divorce on grounds of cruel treatment without criminal prosecution for the cruel act alleged is "encouraging the divorce evil," Judge Peter W. Heldring of the Chatham county superior court and a former president of the American Bar association, announced in open court today that if it were within his power he would not grant a single divorce on such grounds until the case had been prosecuted in the criminal side of the court.

Judge Heldring made his remarks during the first day's trial of October term divorce cases. Several plaintiffs appeared during the morning session, seeking divorces on the grounds of cruel treatment. The complaining women testified that their husbands had struck them, knocked them down, and in one instance a plaintiff testified her husband had struck her with a chair.

"I found business returning to normal down there and citizens of Miami particularly are hard at work to reverse it to its former status. They are slowly but surely doing so and an optimistic spirit generally prevails."

Mr. Rhodes was impressed with the number of foreign automobiles going down for the winter and to his regret, he said, he learned that an average of 200 or more cars daily were being routed around Atlanta because of the condition of the Dixie highway just above Marietta and the unfinished paving beyond Tucker on the Atlanta-Athens road.

Although the disease is under control, yet it is better to take all precautions possible, Dr. Kennedy warned. The toxin anti-toxin renders the patient permanently immune if taken before exposure.

Diphtheria Spread Brings Warning
To Use Anti-Toxin

City health officials Tuesday urged that children be administered positive diphtheria toxin anti-toxin immediately in order to immunize them from the ravages of that disease which during the past week attacked 24 Atlantans.

J. P. Kennedy, health officer, declared that inoculation should be made at once since it takes this type of inoculation about six weeks to take full effect. For the past several weeks the disease has been spreading at the rate of from 12 to 18 cases a week.

Although the disease is under control, yet it is better to take all precautions possible, Dr. Kennedy warned. The toxin anti-toxin renders the patient permanently immune if taken before exposure.

DANIEL A. McDUFFIE'S
FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Daniel A. McDuffie Jr., 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. McDuffie, of 110 North Church street, East Point, who was killed Monday when the automobile in which he was riding with three other men, toppled over at a curve near Clay, Alab., was held at the First Methodist church, East Point, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. E. W. Jones, assisted by the Rev. J. R. Williams, will officiate, and interment will be in College Park cemetery.

Besides his parents, Mr. McDuffie is survived by three sisters, Mrs. R. W. Hammon and Mrs. Wimberly McDuffie, both of East Point; and Mrs. E. F. Smith, of Charlotte, N. C., and two brothers, Forrest McDuffie and Roderick McDuffie, Howard L. Carmichael, funeral director in charge.

Boikin Not Advised
Of Suspects' Arrest
In Donaldson Case

Solicitor General John A. Boykin announced Tuesday that he had heard nothing of the arrest in Jacksonville of A. C. Miller, suspected of knowledge of the slaying here July 29 of Bert Donaldson, an investigator of the solicitor general's office.

The prosecutor added that he knew nothing concerning the alleged suspect, but that he would examine his photograph and finger prints in an attempt to identify him.

A special program of fun was provided for the Lions club Tuesday at the noon luncheon at the Ansley hotel, in which four members took part in a humorous debate. Special music was provided and the Rev. Witherpoon Dodge gave a short talk on the Community Chest.

LAST SERVICES TODAY FOR FULTON SURVEYOR

Funeral services for Charles S. Robert, 59, widely-known surveyor, who died Monday night at the residence, 308 Dunlap street, East Point, due to the cold wave, and most of the requests were for food and fuel. Two, however, were for assistance in burying persons who had died.

During the winter months, about 150 calls for assistance are received daily, and one day last winter this total was pushed to 279.

Relief work of the city is provided for by special appropriation of city council. This year $33,000 was allocated for this purpose.

JACOB BUCHMAN DIES ON TUESDAY MORNING

Funeral services for Jacob Buchman, 59, of 663 Cooldge avenue, who died Tuesday morning at a private sanatorium following a brief illness of pneumonia, will be held at 10:30 a. m. on Wednesday morning at the Bethel Synagogue, 1500 Piedmont road, and Rebbe David Marx and Rabbi Tobias Geffen will officiate and interment will be in Crestline cemetery.

Mr. Buchman, who was born in Warsaw, Poland, in 1867, came to America, settling in Griffin, Ga., in 1890, and moved to Atlanta in 1891 where he founded the Quality Paint company. He was a member of the Piedmont Masonic Lodge, the B'nai B'rith and the Knights of Pythias.

Besides his widow, Mr. Buchman is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Morris J. Greenblatt, of Atlanta; a son, Morris Buchman, of New York; one granddaughter, Miss Lavinia D. Greenblatt, of Atlanta; three sisters, Mrs. Maurice Freed, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Sophie Specter, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Dore Brown of Jerusalem; two brothers, Joe Buchman of Jacksonville, Fla., and Joshua Buchman of Jerusalem. Greenblatt & Bond in charge.

PARTY POSTPONED BECAUSE OF DEATH

Postponement of a tacky party planned for Tuesday night by the Fulton chapter, No. 14, Order of Eastern Star, at the Masonic Temple in East Point, until Thursday, November 4, was announced Tuesday morning.

The postponement was occasioned by the death of Dan McDuffie, Jr., who was killed in an automobile accident in Alabama Monday. His mother is a charter member of the Fulton chapter.

ONE-MAN STREET CAR HEARING POSTPONED

Hearing on the protest lodged by a group of citizens against the one-man trolley cars, which was scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed until Wednesday, November 3, when the petition was called Tuesday before the Georgia public service commission. The case was postponed upon request of the petitioners, who stated that they would be better prepared to present their complaint at a later date.

Miss Louise Carson Is Honored At Bridge-Supper

Mr. and Mrs. John Marsh entertained at an informal bridge supper Tuesday evening at their home on Crescent avenue, the occasion complimenting Miss Louise Carson, of Evansville, Ill., who is visiting Miss Peggy Porter.

Pink chrysanthemums decorated the apartment where the game was played.

Invited to meet Miss Carson were Misses Peggy Porter, Julie Memminger, Evelyn Lovett, Anne Couper, Stephens Mitchell, Joe Kling, Allen Taylor, Gilbert Fraser and others.

Miss Eileen Bricker's tea Tuesday afternoon at her home on Peachtree street also complimented Miss Carson, and the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. O. Bricker.

The tea table in the dining room was lace covered and gracing the center was a large silver basket filled with yellow asters and chrysanthemums encircled with silver candlesticks holding tall yellow tapers.

The guests included Miss Porter, Miss Carson, Miss Anne Couper, Miss Julia Memminger, Miss Julian Gwin, Miss Idolene Lewman, Miss Ruth Dodd, Miss Evelyn Branch, Miss Mary Dodd, Miss Elizabeth Dodd, Miss Lillian Ashley and Mrs. John Marsh.

HAD SEVERE HEADACHES, DULL, SLUGGISH FEELING

"Often I suffered from severe headaches," says Mrs. Anna M. Hanley, 2536 Brighton street, Kansas City, Mo. "I had a dull, sluggish feeling and my work was accomplished only by great effort. Sometimes I had gas pains, which gave me much discomfort. I tried first one thing and then another, but nothing gave me any real relief."

"I had heard about Black-Draught, so I decided to try it, and am thankful to say I was greatly benefited after taking it."

"Black-Draught relieves constipation at once, and after I had overcome that condition, by using it, I found that the other troubles disappeared."

"When I had gotten rid of the poisons, which had accumulated in my system, I felt like a different person. It is mighty easy to let constipation run on, and, in just a little while one becomes 'self-poisoned' and does not realize it."

"Now when I begin to feel the least bit dull or sluggish, I take two or three small doses of Black-Draught and I find it is all I need to make me feel fit. I keep a box of Black-Draught in the house to use for constipation."

Thedford's Black-Draught is made from selected medicinal roots and herbs and contains no dangerous or harmful mineral salts. It has been used for more than 80 years, and has been found to relieve many symptoms when due to constipation, biliousness and indigestion."

Warsaw, Poland, October 20.—(AP) The monarchist conference held at Niesviz yesterday with the attendance of Marshal Pilsudski, has led to the suppression in some quarters that Pilsudski has a desire to become king. This suppression is declared to be at least premature.

It is known, however, that the dictator seeks the support of the monarchist and other groups with the idea of strong executive power.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

A week had now passed, though every courtesy had been shown the Spaniards, rumors reached Cortez through his Tlascalan allies, that plans were afoot to destroy the Spaniards. Even then, Clever Cortez was perplexed, certainly there was no way out of this city if Montezuma chose to prevent it, surrounded as the Spaniards were by countless hordes of Montezuma's warriors, the best and the brainiest fighters in the land. Though Cortez had found it difficult to get into the Aztec capital, it now seemed much more of an undertaking to get out of it alive.

In this dire extremity, Cortez called a conference of his captains and presented a plan which he had been maturing. It was nothing less than the audacious proposal to make Montezuma a prisoner, bring him to the Spanish quarters and hold him as a hostage for the good conduct of his subjects. This project, which for sheer daring stands unequalled in the pages of history, met with instant approval.

Nothing could better illustrate the daring character of the Spanish conquerors than the enthusiasm with which they acclaimed the maddest undertaking ever conceived by a responsible and brainy leader.

Fernando Cortez

The Spaniards were so impressed by the dangers of their bold enterprise that they spent the night in prayer, confessed themselves and prepared for death. November 14, Cortez prepared his soldiers for action, then called on Montezuma with several of his most trusted captains. Montezuma received him affably. Cortez now boldly charged Montezuma with being responsible for four Spaniards having been treacherously slain at Vera Cruz by an Aztec governor, Quauhpopoca. It was, of course, merely a pretext for Cortez. He informed Montezuma that he had shown himself guiltless by investigating Quauhpopoca's conduct and punished him. He, Montezuma, must come and reside with the Spaniards. Montezuma protested, but seeing in the stern visages of the Spaniards that he must submit or die, consented. He called for the royal litter, and before his people had realized what was happening, the procession had passed through the streets and Montezuma, king of uncounted thousands, was presently a prisoner in the Spanish quarters. Montezuma, himself, kept up the pretense with his people that he was visiting the Spanish quarters of his own free will. Every Spaniard realized that the escape of the emperor now would mean their certain death.

Clanton-Gainey

Wedding Party
Is Entertained

Following the wedding rehearsal of Miss Elizabeth Clanton and Dr. Jewel Guy Gainey at the St. Mark church Tuesday evening, Miss Ethel Pharr entertained members of the bridal party at a buffet supper at her home on Ninth street. A profusion of early fall flowers were used in the decoration of the reception rooms. Presiding at the coffee table were Miss Charlotte Tensley and Miss Sarah Croft Smith. The bridal party includes Miss Clanton, Dr. Gainey, Miss Pharr, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Van Hook, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Newton, Misses Mary and Roy Merry, Miss Joyce Smith, Miss Ruth Coker, Walter Archer, of Columbia, S. C.; R. D. Peters and Brian Merry. Mrs. Roy Merry was hostess at luncheon Tuesday at the Atlanta Woman's club, honoring Miss Clanton.

The luncheon table, placed in the palm room, was decorated with silver baskets of yellow chrysanthemums alternating with silver candelabra holding long yellow tapers. Dainty hand-painted yellow cards marked the guests' places.

Covers were placed for 12 guests, including the members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Formal Reception Will Open G. M. A. Gymnasium Oct. 29

The largest reception ever held at the Georgia Military Academy will mark the formal opening of the academy's new gymnasium Friday evening October 29, from 8 to 9 o'clock, with dancing from 9 to 12 o'clock. The G. M. A. band will render several march numbers. Colonel J. C. Woodward, president of Georgia Military Academy; Mrs. Woodward and members of the institution's faculty will be present.

Honor guests for the occasion will be the alumni of G. M. A., both local and out of town, invitations having been sent to all alumni whose addresses are known. In addition to the alumni, invitations have been extended to General W. W. Tamm, General Hargood, commander of the corps arms, and his staff of officers; Willis Sutton, superintendent of city schools; Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech; Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe; Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory University; the judges of the superior and supreme courts, and the patrons and many friends of the school. A number of young ladies of College Park and Atlanta and students at Washington seminary will be in attendance by invitation.

The new gymnasium will be the scene of many delightful social affairs of the future. Its hardwood floors, taken from the heart of the Pisgah mountains, present a splendid surface for dancing, and future G. M. A. dances will be held in the new building. An elevated stage at one end of the enormous main hall makes it acceptable as an auditorium for affairs demanding a room of large seating capacity.

A Happy Woman

A MAN dreams of wealth, success and power. A woman dreams of a home of her own and babies to love. Happy is the young woman whose dream is fulfilled. With good health, housework is not a burden. Her home echoes to the prattle of healthy children. She must not fail those tiny hands. Her husband is still her comrade and confidant, sharing her new responsibilities. She is content.

Happy, too, is the older woman who holds her children's children in her arms and lives to see a new generation dreaming dreams of its own.

A young girl in Iowa was in such a weakened condition that she had to leave school. One day, after being in poor health for about two years, she picked up an advertising booklet and read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began to take your medicine," she writes. "Now I am a housekeeper with six children and I have taken it before each was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."

Amusements

West End Theater.

Playing today at the West End theater is the Thomas Meighan starring vehicle, "The New Klondike," a thrilling drama of Alaska, which has been aptly termed "The New Klondike." Dealing with big league baseball and certain real estate deals, "The New Klondike" is one of the most interesting stories ever filmed. Thomas Meighan does some of the best work of the year in the role of the big league baseball player. No doubt a sneaker by some real estate sharks. The "sneaker," like the proverbial worm, however, turns and the tables are spilled as a result.

At the Forsyth.

Bang!—another great week is under way at the Forsyth theater. "The Fall Guy" having the run this week. Harry Mulkey, comedian, is in his glory in this play that is nothing if it isn't the most laughable thing seen here in a long time. James Cagney, Gus Forbes and Alan Devitt, also are going great guns, while Rhea Dively and Theodosia Shaler are taking the burden of feminine roles—and doing it to the satisfaction of capacity crowds each night and matinee.

Good seats may be had for the re-

Tenth Street Theater.

The master of character actors, Lon Chaney, is starring in "The Unholy Three" at the Tenth Street theater today. Chaney, noted for his character parts, appears in "The Unholy Three" as a simpleton who is perhaps the best of his career on the screen. Adapted from the stage play of the same name, this film possesses the maximum of mystery and gripping suspense. It concerns the affairs of three crooks, one a "didget" who for his clever underworld plan in pursuing their evil deeds, are known as the "Unholy Three." It is one of the most interesting pictures ever screened.

"81" Theater.

One of the largest advance seat sales in the history of the theater is being experienced by the 81 theater in anticipation of the big "Charleston Dances" comedy which plays at night at a midnight frolic which starts at 10:45. One of the largest casts in the country is assembled in "Charleston Dances." Among the headliners are those two comedians, Roscoe Monello and Skeeter Winston, Red Simons, Pauline Morello, Dolly Allen and the singer, Harmon Four, a quartet of unequalled merit.

Added to this is an 11-piece jazz orchestra which comes direct from the Green Cat club in New York. It is one of the best orchestras ever assembled, according to newspapermen who reviewed the show. Tickets are on sale at Chess Place and at the theater, 81 Decatur street.

Tudor Theater.

Rivaling the greatest pictures ever made of life in the great forests of the northwest is "Combat," starring House Peters, now showing at the Tudor.

"Combat" is the story of a roughneck who took a woman because she belonged to someone he did not like, who is transformed by love and is soon fighting for the woman he thought he had hated.

Walter McGrail and Wanda Hawley ably support House Peters in the picture.

The Rialto.

"Hold That Lion," sensational comedy in which Douglas MacLean again has set the nation to laughing, is the screen headline at the Rialto later this week. The supporting cast includes Walter Hiers, the Georgia comedian; Constance Howard, the stage beauty, as leading lady; Cyril Chadwick, George Pierce and Wade Boteler.

"Hold That Lion" is accompanied by a Mack Sennett comedy, "Gosh Darn Mortgage," and the current issue of Pathé News.

The Metropolitan.

Richard Barthelmess, one of the most popularly liked stars of the screen stage is winter never laurels at the Metropolitan theater this week, where he is appearing in his latest First National production, "The Amateur Gentleman," and scoring a brilliant success before crowded audiences. "The Amateur Gentleman" is based on the widely known story by Jeffrey Farnol and makes a splendid photoplay. Enrico Leide and his Metropolitan orchestra, a new "Andy Gump" comedy, "Lots of Grief," and the latest issue of the Metropolitan News and Views are the other features.

Howard Theater.

"The King on Main Street," "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," "A Social Celebrity" and now—"The Ace of Cads." Everyone of them a long time coming but each well worth waiting for! Why? Because of Adolph Menjou, king of sophisticated comedy and newly appointed "Ace of Cads."

The story as it has been handled, is a thing of absorbing interest. Colorful to an extreme, the action covers a period from 1906 to the present year. Scenes take place against backgrounds provided by Paris, London, the world war and an English guards regiment.

This week's Publix stage revue is Paul Oskar's "Seashore Frolics," a whirling, splashing, kaleidoscope of beauty and femininity. The company consists of thirteen people.

LINER MAURETANIA HIT BY LIGHTNING AND WATER SPOUT

(Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution, and Tribune Co.)

Paris, October 26.—The liner Mauretania, entering Cherbourg from New York was struck by lightning last night was simultaneously deluged with a cloudburst from a water spout.

No one damage resulted and no one was injured, but the landing was delayed and the passengers were given a bad fright as the giant vessel shivered with the shock of the lightning bolt.

Severe damage was reported at the channel ports of Brest and La Rochele from the storm and wind, the velocity of which was high enough to unroof houses and uproot trees. No casualties were reported, however.

PRESIDENT CHAMORRO REPORTED RESIGNED

Bluefields, Nicaragua, October 26.—Information received here from Managua, headquarters of President Chamorro, says that the chief executive has resigned in favor of Adolfo Diaz. The resignation is said to have been placed before the Nicaraguan congress.

Postoffice Burned.

Postoffice Inspector in Charge Joe P. Johnston Tuesday was notified that the postoffice at Ellenton, S. C., was destroyed by fire. J. B. Bagnal is postmaster at that point.

WINS ADMIRATION OF ALL LOVERS OF PRETTY FURNITURE

Every woman in Atlanta, who has been through the beautiful store of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., at 581 Peachtree street, has been thrilled by the sight of some of the most beautiful furniture and rugs ever shown in the south.

No article is such individual piece of such artistic beauty as to win the admiration of all who see it, but the stock of merchandise is so large and the variety for selection is so great that anyone, regardless of their tastes or preferences, can find furniture and rugs that appeal.

It is the unique appeal alone that is building a splendid business for this big store. Although by selling for cash the firm is offering quality merchandise at amazingly low prices, the beauty of the merchandise alone makes many a sale regardless of price.

Stephen Philibosian, Inc., has the ability in the selection of artistic furniture and rugs. His dominating purpose is to provide distinctive merchandise at lower prices, and as evidence that he and his staff of trained buyers are doing this one needs only to hear the comment of anyone who has been through the store to fully actually seen what the firm is offering.

Stephen Philibosian, Inc., is now serving a patronage from many southeastern states. During the last thirty days there have been people from Alabama, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia to visit this store and make purchases.

People have learned that it is wise to pay cash not only because they can buy furniture and rugs for so much less, but because such a policy enables the store to provide the newest merchandise, as well as a great variety of articles.

Anyone anticipating the purchase of furniture, rugs or draperies should visit the beautiful store of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., and see for themselves that every claim this store makes regarding quality merchandise and lower prices is true.—(adv.)

SENTENCE BEGUN CAN'T BE CHANGED, SIBLEY DECIDES

Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the United States district court, northern district of Georgia, Tuesday denied the petition of George E. Miller for a writ of habeas corpus to secure Miller's release from the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Judge Sibley held that the court which committed Miller to the penitentiary did not have authority to change his sentence after Miller was delivered to the penitentiary, and that therefore Miller must serve out his original eighteen months' sentence. Miller had sought his freedom by bringing out the point that the judge who sentenced him changed the original sentence from eighteen months to a year and a day, but it was rejected.

The following state officers answered to roll call: Mrs. W. C. Exley, second vice president; Miss Lillie Mar-

INSTALLMENT XXXIII.

REPENTANCE.

David made no reference to the broken arm in the sling, and neither did Dorinda, but as the luncheon proceeded she observed how easily he surmounted the handicap of that useless member. The nurse unostentatiously cut his cold chicken, and this service was the only episode that rubbed in his limitations.

"Too bad Alice has to go back today," he began; "you'll miss her a lot. Hasn't she been a tramp?"

"I never forget it," Dorinda confessed. "She has given me a post-graduate course in tact and efficiency, too."

"I wish she could stay long enough to give one to Parker," David commented, looking around to be sure the nurse was out of the room. "Of all the well meaning asses in the state, he's about the worst. He ought to be muzzle." On the threshold of every sickness. However, he has been mighty good to us, as they all have, and I dare say we shall feel quite sentimental when we leave next Monday. By the way, I had an awfully decent telegram from Hatch the night of the accident," he went on, with a growing sense of difficulty in keeping up the monologue.

"He wired sympathy and suggested wiring money, too, which I let him do. He even suggested coming here himself to look after us. Wouldn't he have felt doing it, if we had consented," he chuckled. "I'll bet it was the relief of his life when I wired him that Alice Bradley was here."

"She must have hated it just about as much as he would," Dorinda suggested. "Even if she does pour coffee better, she isn't naturally any more of a ministering angel than I am; but of course her manner is always perfect. I never knew any one who was so certain to say and do exactly the right thing in any conditions, but my experience isn't extensive. I suppose there are lots of women like her."

"Not many. She's unique."

"It isn't as if I were a friend of hers, either."

"You will be, or, rather, you are now. I think she has shown that."

Dorinda shook her bobbed head.

"No, she has just shown her thoroughbred quality. She'd have done as much for any one. I shall be grateful to her all my life, but I have learned a lesson I shall never forget."

The Day in Finance Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward Stocks Advance on Merger Rumors, Featuring Dull Day on Market.

By R. L. BARNUM

New York, October 26.—Dullness was the striking feature of today's stock market. Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward were exceptions, the stocks of these two mail order houses advancing on merger rumors. Officials of Montgomery Ward denied there was anything in these stories outstanding short interest in the stocks of merchandising companies, nervous investors' loans of member banks in this dis- The $72,000,000 reduction in brokers' fees was made by the large outstanding short interest in the stocks of merchandising companies, nervous investors' loans of member banks in this dis-

000 in two weeks was ignored stock marketwise, and also by the money market. There is no question but that the technical position of both markets is stronger for these reductions.

Crude Prices Up. Three months ago today, or on July 27, when the Steel corporation directors held their quarterly meeting, steel advanced from 139.2 to 140.2 with a new high record for all time of 149.2, touched before the close of the week. The market for Steel com-mon kept boiling until high for a time was made on August 1 at 150.5-8. Steel common began to break down, unnamed Steel corporation officials were widely quoted as saying that the price would be extra dividend this year. Today's meeting was the last quarterly meeting to be held in 1926.

The next one will be held the last Tuesday in January of 1927. Wire advises announce price cuts in crude oil and in gasoline and kerosene in various parts of the country. Part of this movement is seasonal. Part of it is due to overproduction of crude oil.

Todays offering of $50,000,000 Bel- gian bonds at a price making the income return 7.1 per cent was highly successful. Coming at the same time it was officially announced that Belgium had stabilized its currency by revaluing the franc. The average-sized stock quotation board in New York showed up to the last hour no quotations for half a hundred stocks. Many stocks are quoted for the first time for the day some time during the last hour, frequently just before the closing. Buying In Rails. If a stock does not appear on the tape day after day, it is classed as an inactive stock and hence is not acceptable in local envelopes of banks. In a declining market an inactive stock has a way of suddenly appearing on the tape many points down from the last quotation.

In the late trading some buying orders came into the market for rail-way shares, with Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central, Reading, Pennsylvania and Rock Island going up easily. The floating supply of standard railroad stocks is so small that it does not require much buying power to put up the price. Some favorable September railway earnings statements were a factor in today's buying of rails.

Rumors that Rock Island directors will consider at their meeting next month payment of an initial dividend on the common stock since the receipts are based on the earnings now at hand for the nine months of this fiscal year, showing $6.22 earned for each share, for the corresponding period of last year. Rock Island has turned the corner.

It is a little early, however, to start dividends on the common stock. Nothing worth having is gained by starting dividends before it is reasonably certain that such payments can be maintained. This was done by Frisco, Southern and a number of other railroads which have paid initial dividends within the last year or so.

No Definite Trend. As far as can be seen the outlook in the stock market until after election is for a highly professional traders market, which is not a game likely to prove profitable to the average trader, who does not spend his days between 10 and 3 o'clock hanging over the stock ticker. The professional trader who thinks nothing of buying or selling 5, 10 or 15,000 shares a day, realizes that there is no trend to the market at the present time.

Killing temperatures were reported in some eastern belt sections, but otherwise conditions were considered favorable for the development of late cotton.

Exports today 34,433, making 2,000,120 so far this season. Port receipts 135,025. U. S. port stocks 2,306,865.

NEW YORK SPOT COTTON. New York, October 26.—(P)—Spot cotton quiet; middling 12.45.

TREND UPWARD. NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, La., October 26.—(P)—The cotton market was fairly active at times today and prices fluctuated frequently but the general trend was upward during the greater part of the session owing to reports that consider buying orders were in the market for execution on dips. At the start prices were easier owing to less favorable Liverpool cotton available and to a slight favorable weather in the belt. After a dip of 9 to 12 points in the first part of the morning, the market rallied on good trade and investment buying and later the improvement was helped by reports of rain in snow in the eastern states. The trend in this bulge advanced 25 to 28 points and then ruled steady most of the afternoon.

The close was at the bottom, showing net losses of 13 to 19 points.

At the start Liverpool was 5 to 7 points lower than the day before and as a result the local market opened 5 to 7 points higher. After trading narrowly for a time, prices eased off until December traded down to 12.35, January 12.39 and March 12.37.

The latter rally, due to trade buying, advanced December to 12.62 January to 12.67, and March to 12.82.

At 25 to 28 points above the lows and 5 to 7 points above the previous close. In the last hour of trading, prices slumped rapidly on liquidation by longs and selling by traders making new lows at 12.28 for December, 12.34 for January, 12.50 for March, or 32 to 34 points down for the highs. The close was at the lowest. Exports for the day totaled 34,433 bales.

NEW ORLEANS SPOT COTTON. New Orleans, October 26.—(P)—Cotton closed steady 19 points down, Sales 6.27; low middling 993; middling 12.18; good middling 12.78. Receipts 26,985; stock 473,226.

New York, October 26.—(P)—After showing considerable firmness in its day's earlier trading, the cotton market turned easier, ending with a slight liquidation and southern selling. January, which had advanced from 12.36 to 12.62, broke to 12.31 and closed at that figure, the general market closing steadily, at net declines of 14 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 15 points to an advance of points, most positions being lower under overnight selling orders and in sympathy with the relatively easy showing of Liverpool. There was a good demand at the decline, however, and as soon as initial gains were taken, prices turned upward, recovering by shorts and trade buying.

Belief that yesterday's big crop figures had failed to cause any liquidation of spot cotton in the south was promoted by the comparatively small volume of southern selling orders noted in the market. There was a feeling that the high棉 firm had failed materially to change the attitude of the trade with reference to buying on a scale down, and these opinions were partly responsible for the midday advance.

December sold up from 12.10 to 12.24, and November 12.72 to 12.90, net gains of about 16 to 20 points on active positions, but demand tapered off at these figures, and the market weakened during the afternoon.

Much of the buying on the advance was attributed to covering of shorts and while the trade was credited with buying on declines or on scale down orders, there was not as much support after the covering movement slackened.

December broke to 12.20 and March to 12.56 in late trading, and the close was at the lowest levels of the day. Part of the selling at the opening and again toward the close was probably based on reports of continued good weather for picking in the south.

PRICES IRREGULAR ON CURB MARKET.

Chicago, October 26.—(By the Associated Press).—Heavy marketing of Canadian wheat to anticipate the close of lake navigation to pull wheat quotations down today at the last. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 18 to 12c net lower, with corn unchanged to 1c off, oats unchanged to 1c up, and provisions varying from 2c to 22c decline to a rise of 20c.

Increased selling pressure on wheat in the late dealings here was accompanied by a notable giving out of buying support and by word from Winnipeg that the Canadian growers' pool was letting go of November holdings.

When values improved in the Ontario wheat market show an upward trend the greater part of the day. The apparent immediate reason for the new upturn in Liverpool wheat quotations was a fresh advance in ocean freight rates as well as decreasing stocks of wheat in Great Britain.

Disappointing husking returns from Illinois and Iowa gave steadiness to the corn market and indirectly to oats.

Packers were sellers of nearby futures in the provision market, but deferred deliveries were in fair general demand.

Second Political Party Is Great Need of South, Says Washington Lawyer

Henry W. Anderson Says Dixie Suffers Economically, as Well as Politically, From Isolation.

The south will never come into its own, either politically or economically, "as long as it maintains a position of sectional isolation," according to Henry W. Anderson, of Washington, one of the foremost leaders of the republican party, who is in Atlanta attending the convention of the Southern States Republican league at the Biltmore.

Need of Two Parties.

"I believe the southern states and the nation are suffering today from the present one-party system," Mr. Anderson declared Tuesday night. "My chief interest has been to build up in the southern states a constructive and liberal republican party because I believe the existence of two vigorous and well balanced parties is absolutely essential to the free government of any republic."

"The old issues are there, though the time has come when the young men of the south must live with their eyes closed. In future it is time we end the present situation of political and social isolation. It is the only insurance for peace and security—and national prosperity."

Is Leading Lawyer.

Mr. Anderson is one of the country's leading lawyers, and he has represented the government in many of its important cases during the past 10 or 15 years.

He was abroad during three years of the war serving the Red Cross in the Philippines and for a year and half after 1918 was special assistant to the attorney general of the United States. For the past two years he has been an agent for the United States in the Mexican claim division, of the United States shipping board commission, will hold a public hearing at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the Chamber of Commerce building to secure the expressions of commercial, industrial and agricultural interests, public officials and private citizens on this section on the question of continuation of the American Merchant Marine.

Hearings were recently held by Ad miral Benson in Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville in the section determining the position taken on the Merchant Marine. Admiral Benson, accompanied by John Nicholson, of Savannah, special counsel for the shipbuilding board, J. A. Phelan, statistician, and D. P. Eldridge, secretary to the admiral, will arrive in Atlanta at 7:45 o'clock Thursday morning and will remain here throughout the day.

Mr. Nicholson will fill the place of Commissioner E. C. Plummer at the desk.

The southern states furnished many of the greatest statesmen of the past and from them Anglo-Saxon principles will furnish the political leaders of the future. But they never will until the one-party situation has been remedied."

NO GRAFT PROVED IN WASHINGTON

Seattle, October 26.—(AP)—Investigation of senatorial campaign funds in this state was concluded here this afternoon without either the democratic or the republican representatives having been successful in revealing evidence of the large expenditures that had been alleged on behalf of the other party.

Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, who conducted the hearing for the senatorial campaign funds committee expressed the opinion that the inquiry has removed all the clouds that hung over the question but he added that was not within his province under the resolution creating the committee to render an opinion upon the evidence.

Senator McNary left immediately for Portland to open tomorrow an investigation into senatorial campaign expenditures in Oregon.

MANY AVONDALE HOMES STARTED BY CONTRACTORS

Building activities of large proportions have been launched this week in Avondale Estates, Atlanta's rapidly growing new suburb, with work placed under way for construction of a number of homes for immediate occupancy.

One of the most pretentious homes in the new suburb will be erected at 15 Berkeley road for Cassel M. Foster, an executive of the Johns Manville Roofing company.

This home, costing more than $15,000, will be of Dutch colonial design, and a model of modern construction. One of its details is to be an arched roof that is the latest development in the building field.

Construction of the home began Wednesday evening by William T. Alder, builder. Pending its completion, Mr. Foster and his family will live at 3 Berkeley road.

Construction of a home for Charles O. Peyton, who recently came here from Flint, Mich., as representative of the Real Estate Construction company, has begun.

Among the new homes which work has started is that of R. D. Blasingame, secretary and treasurer of the Stephens company, manufacturers of tiles and other clay products, which is to be built at cost of $12,000 at 33 Dartmouth avenue.

Called For Redemption

Coral Gables Bonds of

George E. Merrick

Pursuant to the terms of a certain trust deed made by George E. Merrick, of Coral Gables, Florida, on May 1, 1924, to A. J. Orme, Trustee, you are hereby notified that the following numbered bonds due May 1, 1927, 1928 and 1929 are called for redemption on November 1, 1926, at par, accrued interest and two points premium:

Nos. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31.

You are hereby notified to present said bonds to the Atlanta Trust Company, Atlanta, Georgia, and the same will be paid on November 1, 1926. The bonds will not draw interest after that date.

A. J. ORME, TRUSTEE.

BANKRUPT SALE OF ROLLS-ROYCE ROADSTER

On the office of the Referee, November 1, 1926, at 10 o'clock a. m., there will be offered for sale at the office of the Referee in Bankruptcy, Hon. Harry Dodd, room 325 Grant building, Atlanta, Georgia, at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, subject to the payment of the court, one Rolls-Royce Roadster, the property of W. D. Manning, bankrupt.

This property can be seen at the Ivy Street Garage, upon application to the under which has required him to spend a great deal of his time in Mexico.

"In two years," said Mr. Anderson, "we will be facing another presidential election. It is nothing less than humiliating to every thoughtful man in the United States to feel that this great section, from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, is not only without representation in the government but that its vote is counted in advance; it is one party, regardless of interest or conviction of the people.

Need of Two Parties.

"The time has come when the intelligent people of the south must rectify the situation. In my view this country has many social and economic problems before it and unless we restore the two-party government we can play no effective part in the solution.

"The south is no longer an exclusive agricultural community. Its industrial interests are larger today than its agricultural interests. Both need the protective policies of the republic.

"Under these protective policies, states of the north have grown rich and powerful and there is no reason why the south should not get this industrial benefit. This country is one economically and should be one politically.
